- The FirstNet Authority will refine the current Roadmap draft based on relevant input.
- Collectively, the group will define occasions for continued public safety input as the Roadmap will be continuously updated to align with public safety operational needs and technological trends.

Participants

The FirstNet Authority identified you as a public safety technologist and leader in driving innovation and first responders' use of new technologies. The Public Safety Roadmap Summit will bring together stakeholders from all public safety disciplines and geographic areas of the country to ensure input is truly representative of America's first responder community. Participants will include members from the major national public safety associations and local public safety stakeholders from across the country that have an interest in providing input for the Roadmap.

Working Sessions

Your feedback will be documented during working sessions on coverage and capacity, situational awareness, voice communications, secure information exchange, and user experience. Discussions will cover how agencies are using these technologies today, how data is being shared and operationalized, and what technology capabilities you would like to see in the future.

Additional briefings will be provided on:
